

ABSTRACT

Embodiments of the present invention provide a forming tool for forming a substrate of the interior trim part, and methods for producing the interior trim part. The interior trim part includes a substrate, a layer of cover material, and an adhesive web disposed between the foam layer and the substrate. Further, methods are provided for forming the substrate of the interior trim part and vacuum forming the cover material over the substrate.